

As much progress has already been made in designing and procuring materials for this splendid edition of Gen. Washington's "Farewell Address," it is expected it will be ready for delivery, with the Splendid Edition of the Declaration of Independence, in the month of December next. That the public may have a more perfect view of the design and style of execution, than can be given in a proposal, of this Tribute to the memory of him who was "a Conqueror for the Freedom of his Country! A Legislator for its Security! A Magistrate for its Happiness," it is not intended to solicit any Subscriptions until the Ornamental parts of the plate shall be executed. It will then be submitted for public inspection and public patronage, at five dollars a Copy, payable on the delivery of the Engraving. Philadelphia, July 31.

A reward of 10 dollars will be given if taken in the town or county, 20 in the county of Washington or Fairfax, or the above reward if taken 50 miles from town, with all reasonable charges if brought home. Masters of vessels are cautioned against harboring or carrying off said runaway, as they will be dealt with according to law.

Religious.

Mr. SNOWDEN will gratify a subscriber by inserting in his useful paper the following letter. It comes from the Hibernian Missionary Society in Dublin, and was inserted in the Minutes of Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church held in Baltimore in March last. What makes it peculiarly interesting to me as an individual, is that it details a revival of religion in my native town; and from my knowledge of the several places mentioned, I am enabled to vouch for its correctness, as well as to assure you that although wickedness abounded in them, yet the hand that bringeth salvation can cause grace much more to abound.

A SUBSCRIBER.

"Ballymena, March 12, 1817.
My Dear Brother,

"More than five years ago, when I came to this country as a Missionary, I was greatly cast down in taking a view of the barren state of this part of the kingdom, and filled with strong prejudice of every kind. I had my fears that little impression could be made upon it. However, glory be to God, he can work with or without means. I can now say, the barren wilderness has become a fruitful field, and many who were not a people, have become the people of God."

"We have formed our Mission into two circuits or Missions, Ballymena and Kilrea; in both of which we have 550 regular members of Society, the greater part of whom are converted to God. Since last conference we have had a most glorious work in the county Derry, near Kilrea. At that time we laid aside our horses, and set out through the country on foot. In my judgment this is the best plan for a Missionary: I know it is not the most comfortable; for I can assure you, that many times in the course of the year, my poor feet have been dreadfully blistered. We entered into a resolution that we would go from door to door, and from village to village; and I can now say that God has been with us. In a small tract of country, between Kilrea and Garvaghy, we have formed a circuit that receives two of our Missionaries every night in the month. We have also formed a class in almost every village. Our congregations are very large, in general from one to three hundred; and I may say we are gloriously irregular. Our meetings sometimes continue five or six hours, while the people express the agony of their souls by strong and bitter cries to God for mercy and salvation. At one of these meetings some time since, in the town of Kilrea, there were many converted. When the preachers and leaders were worn out, and could pray no more, the females began, and I think more delightful prayers I never heard in all my life. The work of conviction and conversion has gone through all the classes. Scarce a night passes but some are happy in God. Indeed conversion and the love of God are the subjects in every house. One day while I preached in the street of Kilrea to a vast crowd, the spirit of God applied the word with divine power to the hearts of the people. The whole congregation were melted down before the Lord. At the last prayer I think more than five hundred fell down on their knees in the street, while their hearty amens were heard thro' the town. There were four Churches, and two Dissenting ministers present. They seemed astonished indeed. However, one of them came forward after the meeting, and thanked me for the sermon; gave me an invitation to his house, and has been very friendly ever since. Our love feasts are carried on with spirit and life. If you were at one of these, and heard the simple people tell what the Lord had done for their souls, it would delight you very much. Some of them stand up and say, 'Glory to God; it is just seven months since God pardoned my sins.' Others live, and others one: old men and women, with streaming eyes, adoring the God of heaven, that sent the Missionaries to their houses; while many of the children, often years old are savingly converted. In short, there is almost nothing but prayer and praise in every house. In one little village, which was a seat of wickedness, the people are all nearly converted. Great crowds used to assemble here to fight cocks. On one of those occasions of late, there came only six persons, and they were as much ashamed, that they went home without fighting a cock at all. The man who was in the habit of selling whiskey in this town, had to shut his shop; he could get no person to buy his whiskey; there is such a general reformation in all the country. You are to observe that many of those who have joined us are Dissenters, some of them Seceders, and some Roman Catholics. When this work began first, we knew not what to do for leaders; but the Lord took the matter into his own hand, and raised up sixteen or eighteen blessed, useful men of God, who are now leaders, and going through the country like a flame of fire, doing much good. We have regular leaders' meetings, where every leader speaks his experience. Mr. Ousley was at one of these some time ago: he says he has never seen such a body of men for their time.

"I remain yours, &c."

The Mechanical establishment of Messrs. Dingle, Perry & Charles, at the upper end of King-street, advertised in to-day's Gazette, is one of great public utility, which the proprietors hope will be noticed by the Western Country. Printers in Virginia generally.

The Minister of Spain, Don Louis de Onis, has arrived at the Seat of Government, from his country residence.

(National Intelligencer.)

Com. Perry and Capt. Heath, it is reported, have made an arrangement to settle their differences by duel; the meeting to take place somewhere to the eastward; a certain naval officer of high rank, now absent from the city, is named as second to the former. Capt. Heath, who generally resides here, left the city a few days ago; and Com. Perry, who lately arrived here from Baltimore, returned in the same direction the very next morning. These movements, and some other circumstances of a corroborating nature, seem to strengthen the conjecture.

We have just been told that the parties were to meet this morning, near the Delaware line, and that a number of respectable officers of rank, who were privately acquainted with the business, have repaired to the ground. It is no doubt over by this time—but we hope the arm of the law may have interferred, and arrested the parties in time to prevent the horrid consequences.

(Washington City Gazette.)

The editor of the Aurora says, "There appears to be strong ground for believing a report that is now in circulation, that the ratification of the cession of Florida, for which Don Onis pledged the faith of his adored master, prior to the dispatch of his secretary to Spain in 1816, has at length arrived. The expedition into Florida has had a considerable effect at Madrid, as the minister of war, it appears, declared to the general ministry, that there was no alternative between the complete cession and war; but that the latter was totally out of the question."

"The English minister, on being consulted, intimated that the idea of war with the United States, was to Spain impracticable, and that England could do no more than aid by diplomatic means, which she would continue to do, although her mediation had been already rejected. This new dispatch may after all be only another of those procrastinations so happily adapted to the internal wisdom of our political cabinet—and things may after all be permitted to remain in statu quo, till like the five years' law, the whole subject shall be forgotten; or until events in the South American states shall dictate new expedients."

The gentlemen belonging to the commission, which was appointed in consequence of the Hon. Rufus King's resolution adopted by the senate of the United States, have visited, besides other places, the points of defence in Boston harbour; agreeably to the tenor of their commission. They are instructed, we believe to examine the most striking positions north of the Chesapeake, for the purpose of ascertaining the most suitable situation for a northern naval depot—taking into view, we presume, the circumstance of the locality of population, facility of defence by fortification, depth of water, ease of ingress and egress, difficulty of blockade by an enemy, the state of present naval establishments on the coast, and the comparative expense attending the creation of new depots and the increase of those already existing, as well as an estimate of the number of men required for their protection in time of war.

We hear the commissioners have done all they intend to perform the present season, and we suppose before any final opinion is concluded, there must be topographical surveys made of the best points for fortresses along the coast, in order that all the facts may be fully understood upon which a judgment is to be founded.

The question will afterwards be determined by a committee of congress, when the reports of the several commissioners will be laid before them. (Boston Intelligencer.)

Translated from the Corneo D'Oronoco of July 25, August 25, July 1816.

On Sunday, the 12th of the present month at two o'clock, the time fixed for the Supreme Chief receiving the civil authorities, the generals, and principal officers of the army and navy; the admiral of the republic, Luis Brion, had the honor to present to his excellency Mr. B. Irvine, agent of the United States of North America, whom he had conducted in his vessel from La Margarita. The Supreme Chief advanced some steps to receive him, and having seated him on his right, expressed the great satisfaction which the government and people of Venezuela received at seeing in their Capital an agent of the government and vessels. The Spaniards, however, refused to give them up, when the brig, as if determined to have them at all hazards, commenced firing on the Spanish flotilla; and Admiral Brion coming up at the same time with his squadron joined in the attack; and nearly all the flechas were, in a short time, either taken or sunk. The town of Guayra was then taken possession of by Admiral Brion, and the two English vessels restored to the captain of the brig.

(Reading Room Books.)

We suspect there are some misrepresentations of facts in the above statement; which is the more likely as the account comes from the Spanish town of Lagaira. We have more direct and positive information of the transactions at Guayra from another source, which enables us to say, that the Spanish flotilla was taken by Brion's squadron alone; that instead of a brig of war it was the British frigate Scamander, which applied for the release of the two English vessels, and that so far from her firing into the Spaniards, she kept aloof during the engagement, which, indeed, her neutral character compelled her to do. The "brig of war" which commenced the attack on the flotilla, was one of Brion's squadron, which was taken by the Spaniards during the action, and afterwards recaptured by Admiral Brion. (Herald.)

Extract of a letter from New-Orleans, dated 18th September, received at New-York.

The yellow fever prevails, but by no means formidable. We have had frequent rains lately accompanied with thundering and lightning, which has been of great benefit to the city. There still continues to be numerous cases of highly bilious fevers, but, in general, they yield to timely aid. The Doctor has had a full share of practice, and has been very successful, having lost but one patient, a complicated case. Our friend, Captain Hunt, is dead. We have had a most astonishing change in the weather since yesterday—so cold as to be under the necessity of making fires. Our season has not been so intensely hot as with you: the thermometer in the shade, the hottest day this summer, did not exceed ninety four degrees. The atmosphere, however, has been very dense, and the nights more oppressively hot than for many years.

The greatest mortality during the height of the fever, in one week, was 57; during this week, 42.

The late English ship news received by the Galen at Boston, mentions a circumstance worthy of record, as tending to shew the liberal conduct of South American privateers, who really hold commissions, when contrasted with those spurious patriots who have assumed the flag only for plunder—such honorable dealings would do honor to any government on earth.

(Washington City Gazette.)

"The Jack Tar, arrived in the river (Thames, for London) from Jamaica, on the 18th June, was brought by the Gen. Arismendi, Venezuelan Privateer, Capt. Beluchi, who asked a few questions and then ordered her to make sail. On the 23d, was brought by the General San Martin of Buenos Ayres, who conveyed the Jack Tar from off Cape Maize to the west end of Haneaga, as the Captain said there were a great many small schooners on the coast, plundering merchant vessels."

SURVEY OF THE COASTS.

The gentlemen belonging to the commission, which was appointed in consequence of the Hon. Rufus King's resolution adopted by the senate of the United States, have visited, besides other places, the points of defence in Boston harbour; agreeably to the tenor of their commission. The Supreme Chief advanced some steps to receive him, and having seated him on his right, expressed the great satisfaction which the government and people of Venezuela received at seeing in their Capital an agent of the government and people for whom they had always entertained sentiments of preference, the most cordial, whatever might be the object of his mission.

The senior agent of the United States answered in terms the most expressive and satisfactory. After some conversation with the supreme chief, on subjects connected with the circumstances of the day, he presented his credentials, which the supreme chief, after raising them to his breast as a sign of the highest esteem and respect, passed to the Secretary of State. The senior agent of the U. States retired, shortly after accompanied by the Admiral of the republic, and receiving from the supreme chief the same attentions as at his entrance.

Shortly after the civil and military authorities were dismissed, and the Supreme Chief passed into his cabinet with the Secretary of State.

On the night of the same day the Supreme Chief gave a grand Banquet in compliment to Mr. Irvine, at which the authorities, the generals, and the chiefs of the army, and some distinguished citizens assisted, and which was distinguished for the mirth, frankness, and the fraternal republicanism that prevailed.

All the sentiments expressed in the toasts, were philanthropic and liberal, and no person could confine to his head the ardent wishes it formed for the eternal friendship of North and South America.

The enthusiasm is incredible which was inspired by the toast given by the supreme chief. "To the health of the President of the United States, James Monroe, once a soldier, and always the friend of liberty."

And by that which in return was given by the senior agent of the U. S. "To the success and perpetuity of the republic of Venezuela," which he compared to a new light that dissipated darkness and confounded tyranny. In fine, the satisfaction that reigned at his feast, can be compared alone to that which is felt by two brothers who unexpectedly recognize and embrace each other."

On the 29th Aug. great damage was done to the shipping at Cadiz, in a very heavy gale from E. S. E. Ten sail were driven ashore, and several driven to sea. The brig Laura Ann, Coffin, of New-York, went ashore—lost her foremast and mainmast, and considerable damage done to the hull—got off again. The brig Olive, Lunt, of Newburyport was driven to sea, in a very light set of ballast; great doubts were entertained as to her safety, being very crank. To Farmers and others.

THE Subscribers, just arrived from England, respectfully inform the public that they have formed an establishment at the upper end of King-street, in the town of Alexandria, where they propose to execute extensively, and in the most improved mode now used, the following Mechanical branches, viz: Mill work, of every kind, threshing machines, wheat fans, with most kinds of machinery, waggons, carts, ploughs, and every other implement used in agriculture—to which they will add the House-joiner's and Carpenter's Work.

Threshing machines having become generally useful in England and Scotland, it is presumed the American farmers will find it their interest to adopt them:—with the aid of two horses and three men, they will thresh fifteen bushels of wheat every hour. Their wheat fans differ from those in use here, and it is believed they are on a plan better adapted to the object. They invite the public to call and examine their work, the neatness and durability of which, combined with great punctuality in executing any orders they may be favored with, will, they hope, entitle them to encouragement and support.

Further information respecting them may be obtained by applying to Anthony Crease and James H. Hoot, esq's. by whom they have been employed.

Shoe Manufactory.
THE subscriber respectfully informs the public that he has opened a shop in the brick house next door to Mr. Thomas J. Peyton's store, at the upper end of King-street, where he intends making and offering for sale all kinds of shoes and boots of the neatest and most substantial work. He will also keep a constant supply of coarse shoes and clogs, suitable for laborers. He promises to execute his work in the best manner, and hopes by his assiduity and attention he will merit a share of the public

To Farmers and Others.
THE Subscribers, just arrived from England, respectfully inform the public that they have formed an establishment at the upper end of King-street, in the town of Alexandria, where they propose to execute extensively, and in the most improved mode now used, the following Mechanical branches, viz: Mill work, of every kind, threshing machines, wheat fans, with most kinds of machinery, waggons,
carts, ploughs, and every other implement used in agriculture—to which they will add the House-joiner's and Carpenter's Work.
Thrashing machines having become generally useful in England and Scotland, it is presumed the American farmers will find it their interest to adopt them—with the aid of two horses and three men, they will thresh fifteen bushels of wheat every hour.
Their wheat fans differ from those in use here, and it is believed they are on a plan better adapted to the object. They invite the public to call and examine their work, the neatness and durability of which, combined with great punctuality in executing any orders they may be favored with,
will, they hope, entitle them to encouragement and support.
Further information respecting them
may be obtained by applying to Anthony Crease and James H. Hooe, esq. rs. by whom they have been employed.

Valuable Land for Sale.
HAYING more land in the tract on route 1, which I reside than I can farm to advantage. I will expose to public sale, on the 5th day of NOVEMBER next, if fair, if not the next fair day, eight hundred acres, divided into lots of two hundred acres; each lot has seventy acres in wood;—of the cleared land one hundred and fifty acres are in clover, and two hundred in rye and wheat. This land is situated ten miles below Alexandria, and is bounded north and east by Accotink creek, which separates the lower part of it from Jonathan Janney's mill, where the Alexandria price can be had for grain.—It is as fertile as any land in the county, and is susceptible of improvement, by clover and plaster, as any I have seen. Persons wishing to view it will call on the subscriber, living at Cedar Grove, one mile below Janney's mill.
The terms will be one-third of the purchase money in hand, and the balance in two equal annual payments. The sale will take place at 12 o'clock, on the premises.

Valuable Property for Sale.
THE subscriber is desirous of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting Creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutritious as the best timothy or clover.—The farm would be sold a number of very valuable homes, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow.—It would be sold with the other or separately. Also a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of sale or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, esq. or Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaster acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain; being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary out-house, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvas backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

For Sale.
A valuable Farm in Jefferson County. BY virtue of a decree of the Superior Court of Chancery for the Fredericksburg District in Virginia, in a suit wherein the Executors of Gen. George Washington were complainants; and Gerard Alexander, Thomas L. Alexander, (by Ludwell Lee, his appointed guardian) Ludwell Lee, R'd. H. L. Washington, John A. Washington, Bushrod C. Washington, and Mary Lee Washington, were defendants, will be exposed to sale to the highest bidder on the premises, on Fairfax the 20th day of November next, all that tract of land lying in Jefferson County, Virginia, on Bullskin, commonly called Rockhall, containing 540 acres, now in the occupation of John Saunders.
The above tract of land lies about sixteen miles from Winchester, and about six from Charlestown, on the main road leading from Winchester to Baltimore, the city of Washington and Alexandria. It is well adapted to plaster and clover, and is in quality little inferior, if at all, to any farm in that fertile valley. The improvements on it are a large two story frame dwelling house, a barn and other necessary out houses.—The water is limestone and of excellent quality.
The terms of sale will be one-third of the purchase money, and the balance to be paid with interest, in one, two and three annual instalments, to be secured by a deed of trust on the property.
Any person wishing to view the land will be shown it upon application to John A. Washington or Bushrod C. Washington, living near it.

She is about four months gone in a state of pregnancy—followed her husband, Jim Clark, a yellow man, who was purchased from this place and taken away in company with a large number of slaves, about two weeks ago, by a man of the name of Basset. It is supposed they have gone to the westward: Celia was born free, and had with her a notarial certificate of her freedom; and description of her person. Her mother, the subscriber, is much afflicted by her manner of going away, and desires that any humane people who may chance to meet with her, will persuade her to return, being apprehensive that when she gets into a strange country, where she will be unknown and out of the reach of her friends and those who would be likely to protect her, attempts may be made by some avaricious and unprincipled persons, to deprive her of her liberty, and sell her for a slave. Should any such attempts be made, fifty dollars reward will be paid to any person who will communicate such information as shall lead to the conviction of the offenders, and the recovery of the woman.

PROPOSALS.
By Gideon Fairman, John Binn and Charles S. Parker, to PUBLISH A Splendid Edition of Washington's Farewell Address,
To the People of the United States.
THE world has seen enough of warriors—and of Heroes—enough of Statesmen—of men who have guided Armies in the field, or dictated as Sages in the Cabinet, for the exclusive purpose of Ambition. History from its earliest page to the present day, has offered to our contemplation, only ONE WASHINGTON, but ONE MAN, whose dangers in war, and labors in peace, were undertaken and supported with a single eye, to the benefit of his country; whose wonderful and honorable success, was the plain result of wisdom in design, and valor in execution; whom danger never appalled, nor defeat depressed; who, persevering in the justice of his cause, wondrous Victory till he won her: who coveted no reward but the well earned approbation of those whose interest he lived to promote: who renounced all public honors, when they craved to be the necessary instruments of good to the people, whose gratitude conferred them: who superior to all Monarchs, was content to be called the American Citizen. His career of glory through life was unstained by crime; and his death was felt as a loss by every individual of that community, whose political existence was the fruit of his exertions.

THE FAREWELL ADDRESS of General Washington is the condensed result of long experience, matured reflection and strong anxiety for the permanent prosperity of his country. His advice concerning the great importance of maintaining indissolubly the federal Union; the danger of indulging too much in party feelings—the necessity of supporting public credit at home;—of maintaining public faith in all our transactions with foreign nations: of encouraging foreign intercourse free from foreign attachments:—are so many lessons of prudence which we should do well to bear in constant remembrance. Why therefore should not his legacy of wisdom and affection; be so published, as to admit of being constantly before our eyes? An ornament to our apartments, while it serves as a memento to guide our public feelings, and to manifest that the author lives in our memories?

To make it such, is the aim of the proposed Edition.
The Publishers are determined that the Address shall be printed on paper of the same quality and size as the splendid edition of the Declaration of Independence now engraving, & shall in all respects be a companion worthy that great State paper.

As errors are known from various causes to find their way into the most important writings, the publishers feel it their duty, not only to satisfy themselves, but to satisfy the public, of the authenticity of the copy from which this splendid Edition of the Farewell Address shall be published.
MR. GEORGE BRADFORD will complete the Design; of which the following is an outline:—The introductory part of the Address, in highly finished ornamental penmanship, shall form the upper part;—the other parts of the plate, shall be appropriate ornaments;—in the centre below shall be engraved, from an historical design for this publication by Mr. Sully the Surrender of the British Army at Yorktown, October 19, 1781.

The Address itself shall be printed with type of a peculiar and a appropriate character, designed for this purpose by Mr. Fairman, and to be cut and cast by our best artists. No more of the type shall be cast than will be necessary to execute this Address: & when it shall be complicated, the type and the matrices in which it was cast shall be utterly destroyed; so that no other work shall ever be executed by the same letter which shall have printed the "FAREWELL ADDRESS" of him who lived and died, first in War; first in Peace, and first in the hearts of his Countrymen.

The paper, of the first quality, 36 by 26 inches, will be made by Mr. Amies. The ink shall be carefully prepared, and of the best materials.
The signature of General Washington from which it is proposed to execute a fac simile for this publication, is that which he affixed to the Constitution of the United States, when he signed it as President of the Convention in which it was framed; Thus associating and concentrating some of the greatest events in the life of this great man and in the history of his Country.

The ornamental writing will be designed and executed in the very best manner; the ornamental parts of the design and vignette, will be engraved by G. FAIRMAN: and the Typographical part executed by John Binn. They will take especial care of the execution of their several duties in this respect, and they will call to their aid, all that liberality, zeal and industry can command from the Sciences and Arts, so as to make the "Farewell Address" no mean specimen of the state of the Fine Arts in the United States.

As much progress has already been made in designing and procuring materials for this splendid edition of Gen. Washington's "Farewell Address," it is expected it will be ready for delivery, with the Splendid Edition of the Declaration of Independence, in the month of December next. That the public may have a more perfect view of the design and style of execution, than can be given in a proposal, of this Tribute to the memory of him who was "a Conqueror for the Freedom of his Country! A Legislator for its Happiness!" A magistrate for its Happiness!" It is not intended to solicit any Subscriptions until the Ornamental parts of the plate shall be executed. It will then be submitted for public inspection and public patronage, at five dollars a Copy, payable on the delivery of the Engraving.
